DENIES THAT RAILROAD HELD BACK PROGRESSIVE MEASURE

Mr. Rich Replies to Statements Made
By Mr. Hollis at Keene

Editor Herald:

In the Concord Evening Monitor of March is published an address made by Allen Hollis, Esq., at Keene, March 18th. In the course of this address Mr. Hollis makes the following statement:

"Take the situation in the senate last winter, when the railroad held back all our progressive measures in the senate in order to compel action satisfactory to them in the rate matter. If we had had the initiative so that those bills could have become law by popular vote do you think that 14 senators could have held up the whole state at the behest of a railroad lawyer?"

In the first place, to what "progressive measures" does Mr. Hollis refer?

At the close of the Legislative session in 1911, (April 16th) Governor Bass specified these progressive measures, as follows:

"The platform promises of the legislators have been carried out in all but two instances. The income tax bill and the act to provide for the direct election of delegates to national conventions were killed. The platform measures that were passed were: A bill to prohibit campaign contributions by corporations; to provide for purity of elections and prevent bribery; providing for publicity of campaign receipts and expenditures; creating a public service commission; creating a permanent tax commission to equalize taxation; providing for workmen's compensation; defining the duties of the attorney-general and providing that he devote more time to the business of the state; assembling a constitutional convention; increasing automobile license fees and appropriating the fees to the maintenance of highways.

"In addition to these platform measures there have been enacted laws protecting child laborers, regulating baby farms, the purchase of Crawford notch, extending the protection from forest fires, providing for the enforcement of decisions regarding excessive rates, providing homes for dependent minors, providing for the exemption of certain mortgages from taxation, and reconstructing the bureau of labor and extending its duties."

The rate bill was passed April 15, 1911.

The other bills were passed as follows:

Bill to prohibit campaign contributions by corporations, approved April 6, 1911; Harry J. Brown, Esq., of counsel for the Boston and Maine railroad, appeared before the Committee and advocated the passage of this bill.

An act to provide for purity of elections and prevent bribery, approved April 6th.

An act to provide for publicity of campaign receipts and expenditures, approved April 6th.

These three measures passed unanimously nine days before the Rate Bill was passed.

An act creating a permanent tax commission passed April 14th and approved April 15, 1911. The counsel for the Boston and Maine railroad

COL. BARTLETT WAS GREETED WITH APPLAUSE

Philadelphia

A dispatch from Philadelphia giving account of the annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science states that applause from all part of the hall greeted the declaration of John H. Bartlett, of Portsmouth, N.H. who was delegated by Gov. Bass to represent New Hampshire at the meeting that the only weapon left the workmen was the ballot. Mr. Bartlett said many men were getting 17 cents an hour for their labor, and while big combinations were getting together by "gentlemen agreements" or by other means, the man receiving the 17 cents an hour could not organize "or was afraid to do so."

MRS. ROWE SUES TELEPHONE CO. FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Claims Company's Pole Located too Near Highway

Mrs. G. L. Rowe of Candia, through her counsel Kelley, Harding and Hatch of this city, brought suit against the New England Telegraph and Telephone company, for $25,000 for the death of her husband last October. He was killed by his team coming in contact with a pole belonging to the company and it is alleged that the pole was located too near the highway. The action is returnable at the April term of the Superior Court.

MECHANICS' BLOCK CHANGED HANDS

Biggest Real Estate Deal Here for a Long Time--Paras Brothers Take Possession.

One of the largest real estate deals transacted here for a long time, took place on Friday when the title of the Mechanics' Block on Congress and Fleet streets was passed to the Paras Brothers, George, John and Basil, wholesale fruit dealers of this city.

The property was sold by Mrs. Myrtle Locke through her agent, Attorney William E. Marvin and the new owners take possession at once.

The price paid was not given out. Mr. Marvin will still act as agent of the building and no changes will be made in the tenants at present, as the new owners purchase for an investment.

The Paras Brothers are Greeks, who have for the past two years conducted a wholesale fruit business on Hill street. George the older having been associated with Peter Zacharias on Congress street and later he was in business in Lewiston.

GREENLAND

Newsy Notes From Our Neighboring Town.

Robert B. Harris, assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Portland, Me., stopped over for a few hours this week as he was returning to that city from a business trip to Boston. He likes his new acquired position very much.

Miss Lucy B. Record, professional nurse, is passing a recreation week in Boston.

At the fourth quarterly conference held at the Methodist church, Rev. Raymond H. Huse, Dist. Superintendent, presided. William R. Weeks was chosen secretary. Encouraging reports were brought in from the various enterprises of the church. Among other important business transactions a unanimous vote was passed by the conference, inviting Rev. L. L. Harris to return as pastor of the church for another year.

The musical talent of both churches has been united in a choral society and have organized with Thornton N. Weeks, president; Eugene Tuttle, vice president; Mrs. Harold O. Bennett, secretary and treasurer. Arthur Harris, director, Miss Ruth Lord, accompanist, Mrs. Thornton N. Weeks, Mrs. Harold Bennett, Miss Lucy Hoyt, executive committee. A musical will be announced soon.

Mrs. Lydia Ann Bennett passed quietly away at midnight Wednesday. She has been in a semi-conscious condition since the fall sustained about two weeks ago. She had during the present month attained her ninetieth birthday. She was highly regarded by all who knew her. One daughter, Miss Adelaide Bennett of Lynn, Mass., a daughter-in-law with whom she resided and several grandchildren survive her all of whom were united in their devotion to her in her declining years.

Miss Winnifred Record has been a recent guest of friends in Stratham. Clarence E. Gowen and Frank G. Dearborn have been visitors to Boston recently.

Mrs. Celia Bell after a few weeks stay here has returned to her home in Portsmouth.

The Experience party planned by the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church was held on Tuesday evening at the town hall. It was well attended and the exercises were entertaining. Four of Frederick Hughes family including Mrs. Hughes and children earned each a dollar. The entire sum realized was a little more than $40. Supper was served and well patronized.

Mrs. N. P. Ordway is regaining her health slowly after several weeks illness, the primary cause of which was a severe cold.

William Henry Brackett has made a brief visit to his relative, Mrs. Frank Hillard of Lynn, Mass. He visited the public library of that city to get information, which he could not find in the local libraries. He is to present a paper at the State college at Durham, and secured what he sought without difficulty.

DRAMATIC READINGS FOR MEN.

Beginning on Sunday afternoon, March 31st, the Young Men's Christian Association has arranged to graph staff.

have Miss Helen Hobbs of Boston and Chicago, a reader who possesses remarkable facility of expression, present to the men of Portsmouth program of dramatic readings. Miss Hobbs has, in the past year, addressed large audiences of men and wherever she has appeared her readings have produced a profound impression. In connection with the dramatic readings a special musical program has been arranged. The following is the program for the four Sunday afternoons:

March 31, "Through the Flood," Jan McLaren
 "The Lost Word," Van Dyke
 April 7, "Easter," Selected
 "The Other Wise Man," Van Dyke
 April 14, "The Christmas Substitution," Selected
 "The Angel and the Shepherds," (Adapted from "Ben Hur") Wallace
 April 21, "The Melting Pot," Zangwill

The readings are to be held on Sunday afternoons at 3.45 o'clock in Association Hall. Admission will be by ticket which may be obtained at the Association office free.

CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Salts, Calomel and Cathartic Pills are violent—they act on bowels as pepper acts in nostrils.

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headaches, coated tongue, can't sleep are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour undigested and fermenting food and foul gas; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 14-cent box from your druggist means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

VITAGRAPH ACHIEVEMENT IN CANADA.

The Vitagraph Company, according to the Toronto Sunday World, is preparing a series of pictures telling the history of Canada from the days of Jacques Cartier to the present day, and as a part of this historical production recently made motion picture records of the new Borden Cabinet at work in the Privy Council Chamber in Ottawa. Scenes were also secured showing the Governor-General and family, including Princess "Pat," the Premier, the Speaker, and other high officials. The pictures were under the direction of Hal Reid, of the Vitagraph staff.

ORIGINAL TABLE FOR DEN

Desk-Closet-Bookcase-Table Designed by an Interior Decorator for His Own Use.

An interior decorator has had executed for his own use in a little, built-in den a unique desk-closet-bookcase-table. He bought one of those table-desks with a drawer in the middle and a narrow shelf at each end. The shelves are about fifteen inches from the floor, are supported, back and front, by little slats and are open at the ends of the table. He had his workmen make a little closet out of each of these shelves by placing a board behind the slats at each end, another between the drawer and the shelf to form the closet back, and a door with a lock and key across each end of the table. There was still unused space below the drawer and between the closets. This, it at first seemed, he would need for knee room when using the table as a desk. But at last he hit upon the plan of building into that space two shelves which, by touching a button, could be made to slide back far enough to permit him to draw close to his desk. These shelves were filled with books, so that when flush with the table edge, the gay bindings were in full view. The closets may be used for writing materials, liquors, cigars, pipes, magazines—any of the little things that usually litter a den. A cabinet maker or interior decorator would so transform a table for no great sum.—Vogue.

CENTRAL IS SURE TO KNOW

Telephone Operator Infallible Authority on Pronunciation of Difficult Proper Names.

Three men argued over the pronunciation of a fourth man's name. The fourth man was not present. His was prominent, but unknown to the disputants.

"We'll settle this thing right now," said one.

He called a telephone operator on the fourth man's exchange.

"Say, Central, how do you pronounce this name?" he asked.

He spelled it out. She told him. Her pronunciation differed from anything previously suggested.

"But it's all right, am sure," said the man who had telephoned. "Those girls always know. They are an authority on the pronunciation of proper names. A man with a funny name can't hear to hear it called wrong, even over the phone, and the first thing he does when he acquires the use of a new telephone is to drill the operator on the correct pronunciation."

Sleep.

The doctor folk would change the instruction "early to bed and early to rise" to "early to bed and late to rise." They have been studying sleep from the physiological, the chemical and biological points of view, and they find that of the many sacrifices made to the pursuit of happiness the most unhappy results come from the sacrifice of sleep.

The Medical Record says: "We are apt to call Towser and Tabby lazy animals, but no physiologist doubts that they live more hygienically in respect to sleep than do their human masters or mistresses. It is declared that in the cities 'well-to-do' multi-pet families live and die without experience of the pure delight of unadulterated muscle fatigue and of the sudden and deep sleep that normally follows a day of purely muscular work."

The campaign for gymnasiums, the preaching about exercise and athletics, the annual summer vacation rush, the vast literature about the simple life, even the back-to-the-soil movement, may all have their true source in that silent crying of the human body for normal living—a feeling of perfect fitness associated with intense wakefulness, muscular weariness in company with the desire for sleep.—Toledo Blade.

His Peculiar Way.

A well-known artist, whose pictures are characterized by extreme delicacy and beauty both of subject and treatment, recounted a somewhat florid story to his model one day. Shortly after the model happened to pose for a painter whose pictures are noted for being quite the reverse of delicate, told the tale to him. "Rather vulgar," was his comment. Next time the model saw the first artist she said:

"Do you remember the story you told me the other day? Mr. — says it is vulgar."

"Oh, well," was the indifferent reply, "every man has a streak of vulgarity in his composition. In one it may come out in the stories he tells, while another gives expression to it in his pictures."

Ear Phones for a Church.

Ear phones have been introduced into the Wollaston Congregational Church of Quincy, Mass. This is the first church in the city to adopt this invention.

A transmitter and six receivers comprise the initial equipment and should these prove satisfactory others will be added as occasion requires.

The apparatus is extremely simple consisting of a neat box-like transmitter at the pulpit and modest watch-like receivers, on convenient handles, in various pews. Receivers and transmitters are connected by invisible wiring and the electricity is supplied by dry cells.

TO MAKE CAMEMBERT CHEESE

Experiments Conducted by Agricultural Department in Attempt to Produce Equivalent.

For several years there have been conducted, under suggestions afforded by the department of agriculture, various experiments in this country, with a view to the manufacturing of an equivalent of the famous Camembert cheese.

In the production of this cheese much depends on two species of microscopic fungi or molds known to science as Penicillium camemberti and Cladonia lactis. Both species have been artificially propagated and furnished to the experiment stations.

The manufacture of the cheese begins with fresh whole milk heated to 85 degrees Fahrenheit. Later on the cheeses are inoculated with cultures of these molds.

The cheeses are shaped in galvanized iron hoops, and afterward treated with salt rubbed on the outside. They are then transferred to the first ripening room, the air of which must be quite saturated with moisture, and maintained at a temperature of from 60 to 62 degrees. From this time on they are treated daily. During the second week they are wrapped in tin-foil or parchment paper, after which they are sent to the second ripening room, the temperature of which is slightly lower than that of the first room. In the second room the cheeses remain one or two weeks, when they reach the best condition for consumption.—Harper's Weekly.

ERYOPS LIVED AEONS AGO

Specialized Member of Ancient Amphibians Found in the Wichita Basin in Texas.

A primitive amphibian, a specimen of the eryops, which roamed through the great coal swamps millions of years ago, has been placed on exhibition in a glass case in the hall of fossil reptiles at the American Museum of Natural History in New York. It was found in the Wichita Basin, Texas, and has been prepared by A. Hermann of the museum staff.

According to the scientists, the eryops is a comparatively large and specialized member of the ancient amphibians, and skeletons of the reptile have been found in the upper beds of the coal formation of Pennsylvania but more abundant traces of the specimen have been found in the red shales which overlie the coal regions of Texas.

This type of animal once lorded it over the denizens of forests and morasses of the coal period, a sort of gigantic tadpole, with wide flat head, no neck and a heavy flattened tail.

The eryops is the largest and best known of the Permian amphibians in America. It lived before the advent of the mammoth or mastodon.

Just a Man!

In the long line of cabs and automobiles in front of a big New York hotel was one car around which a few idlers had gathered. Something was wrong. Prone upon the ground lay an animal of some kind. A dear old lady had opened along. She saw the little knot of people and put up her glasses to observe the cause. Then she saw the brown fur of the thing on the icy asphalt.

"Poor creature, poor creature!" said she aloud in her compassion. "Is its leg broken?" She pushed close to the prostrate figure in the brown fur. It moved. The dear old lady took a closer look. Then she made a sound approximating a ladylike snort. It was the chauffeur of one of the taxicabs, clad in his brown fuzzy coat, in the usual attitude of fatness, tinkering the under-part of his machine with a monkey wrench.

The dear old lady, all her sympathy curdled, hurried on.

Big Bags of British Hunters.

The shooting in Great Britain for 1911 is over as far as grouse are concerned. The heaviest one-day bag obtained in Scotland was that of Lord Dalkeith and his party on the Duke of Buccleuch's Roanfell moor, in Roxburghshire, when eight guns killed 2,523 birds.

In England the best one-day bag was that of the Duc de Luyne and five other guns on Lord Strathmore's Wemmergill moors in the Upper Landedale district of Durham; 1,599 birds were killed during four drives in stormy weather.

On the Duke of Devonshire's Upper Wharfedale moor in Yorkshire 14,918 birds were killed in twenty-two days, all by driving, and there were usually nine guns out. The best bag was obtained on August 18th, when the King was included in the party, and nine guns killed 1,580 birds on the Barlen and Rylstone moors.

Self-Denial.

Dan Reed, the head coach of the Cornell football team, was talking at a banquet at an Ithaca hotel about a football failure.

"He'd have been a good man," said Reed, "but he wouldn't train. It wasn't in him to train. In fact, the only kind of self-denial he was ever known to practice was to look out of his study window at his 'fat' house and tell the juns he was not at home."

Perfectly Lovely.

Mrs. Benham—it will be a great thing when women vote, and hold office.

Benham—Yes, it will be perfectly lovely if a man runs against his mother-in-law, and she beats him.

CHILD ACTOR WITH ESSANAY.

The Essanay Company has been fortunate in securing the "most perfect" child in Chicago for portrayal in their films. Little Miss Hillis Trafficker, over whom artists and photographers have raved and dined with offers to pose for them, first attracted attention last August when she made her debut at a Congress of All Nations in Chicago, and immediately the critics became enthusiastic over her perfect development and predicted she will grow into the perfection of form of the woman of ancient Greece. Hillis is a splendid little actress with a world of natural talent that is truly remarkable, and the Essanay Company will introduce her to the film-world in a beautiful subject written especially for her and admirably suited to her great ability.

As if to prove that "being a popular photo-player is not a bar to the regular stage" but rather a recommendation to it, comes the announcement that the "Peggy" of the Lubin company stories has been engaged for the "big time" variety theaters. Miss Peggy Glynn (which is "Peggy's" full name) goes with Miss Glynn's full name goes with Miss Glynn's full name in a sketch act after connection with the Lubin, Thau, Souther and Powers film companies. The vaudeville managers are slowly but surely raising the bars that made stage employment impossible or film favorites, just as have their associates of the legitimate. This means merely that picture playing has attracted enough high-grade artists to make it worth the while of the theatrical managers to abolish "colish prohibitions."

Manager Fred Clark Expects His Pirates to Make Things Hum this Season

Hot Springs, Ark., March 30—Fred Clark is satisfied with the lineup and playing of the Buccaneers. The Pittsburgh Pirates' manager believes his aggregation will make things very interesting for the Phillies. Giants and the Cubs this season and perhaps beat them out for the pennant. It looks as though there would be at least two chances in the Pittsburgh lineup for 1912. McCarthy has practically clinched second base position and Jack Miller will in all probability hold down first base. Mike Donlin, according to Clark, will brace up the outfield. Carey and Leach, the other two suburbanites are in the best of shape. The Pirates' pitching staff is stronger than last season. Clark has picked up two very promising young twirlers in Hendrix and Grover, while Marty O'Toole, the "$32,500 beauty," is expected to be the sensation of the league. In addition to this, Fitcher Camnitz and Babe Adams are in fine condition and should have a good year. The catching department will be well looked after by Gibson, Simon and Kelly. Clark says he

Bible Students' Association.
(Un denominational.)
Divine service, Sunday, March 31, in U. V. U. hall, Congress street, Portsmouth, at 3 p. m., E. T. Lake of Kittery being the speaker and the subject of the free lecture will be "Ransom and Restitution."
The point that will be emphasized is that Jesus Christ a ransom for all and that His death was on behalf of the lost race, and his sacrifice was a ransom or corresponding price for Father Adam and his condemned children (mankind). Jesus paid the price of his sacrificed life, that lost mankind might be recovered from Death. The Apostle says: "We are bought with a price." The price was the life of the man, Christ Jesus, who offered himself to God to become Man's Ransom. God accepted this offering and Justice was satisfied and cannot any longer hold the race in condemnation, and so God in his plan has arranged for a "Restitution of all," on the basis of Jesus' sacrifice, viz., "A Restitution to all that was lost." Since "Justice" condemned the race and since "Justice" accepted the price (the Ransom) the release of all the ransomed ones from the great prison house of Death is an assured fact to be testified in "due time." All are cordially invited to attend this service. Seats free. No collection.

U. V. U. Hall.
The subject of a free lecture to be given in U. V. U. hall, Congress street, Portsmouth, at 3 p. m., Sunday, March 31, by Mr. Eugene T. Lake of Kittery, under the auspices of the International Bible Students' Association, will be: "Ransom and Restitution." All are welcome.

SATURDAY, MARCH 30, 1912.

The followers of Col. Roosevelt in Dover are to hold a rally next Monday evening, April 1. They evidently did not take the day so seriously as the member of the Roosevelt club in this city who objected to Good Friday for holding the local rally.

A young girl recently lost her life in the Hudson river by the upsetting of a canoe. It is not believed, however, that her fate will prove a warning to the members of the summer colony at York and deter them from venturing out in the frail crafts.

The Boston Traveler is responsible for the following: Get Wise to this startling headline by means of which a New York paper maligns Boston:

BRIDE OF 17 RETURNS BY STEAMSHIP TO BOSTON

It can't be did. Impossible. We wouldn't allow her to land here unless she canned 16 of them.

It will be of interest to many in this city to know that the remains of General John Sullivan and his wife were twice buried. They were first interred in Berwick, Me., on the estate now owned by Frederick S. Nicker, being a part of the farm once being one belonging to Master Sullivan, and appropriate tombstones were erected in the little burial ground. In the early seventies a street was laid out across this land and as a portion of it crossed the lot, the remains of John and Margery Sullivan were removed and placed in the old graveyard in Durham.

The Manchester Union says: The report from Washington that the Roosevelt men would be glad to withdraw their candidate from the contest if only they could receive assurance that President Taft, too, would withdraw, is what many people have been expecting for the last three weeks. The President's steady and consistent gains, and the Colonel's steady and persistent losses, were bound to impress even the most ardent Roosevelt advocates in time. As for the President, there is no reason why he should withdraw, and every reason for his going on to the victory which promises to be his. Colonel Roosevelt must realize, by now, that he made the mistake of his life in entering the campaign as a candidate.

The New York World says:

Mr. Roosevelt will not accept the crown. He will not seize the throne. He has met a number of kings and they were all good fellows, but kingship moves him to a kind of contemptuous pity. It is not a full-sized man's job.

So the Republic is safe. No King Theodore will set his heel on our necks, no Roosevelt dynasty will rule over us.

Mr. Roosevelt wants only a full-sized man's job, so he will continue to impersonate the whole people, the American people, and wear no crown but the martyr's crown.

From the present appearances it looks as though Gov. Bass, Brother John and their followers in their endeavor to deliver the state of New Hampshire over to Col. Roosevelt, have fallen just outside of the breach-works.

The Laconia Democrat says that the contest between Taft and Roosevelt in New Hampshire will be decided by the election of delegates to the Republican national convention, and the Taft delegate slate has practically been made as follows: Fred

W. Estabrook, Nashua; Ex-Gov. Charles M. Floyd, Manchester; William F. Thayer, Concord; Lyford A. Morrow, Ossipee, delegates-at-large; F. W. Hartford, Portsmouth; Hovey F. Slayton, Manchester, 1st District; Charles Gale Shedd, Keene; Harry W. Keyes, Haverhill, 2d District. The Roosevelt delegate slate has not been announced as yet, but is expected to include the names of Gov. Bass, Brother John Bass of Chicago, Col. Beatie of Missouri, Lawyer Cortop of New York and Mr. Rublee, whose post-office has been mislaid, all of whom are eminently qualified as delegates "at large."

A DISTINCT SERVICE.

The Young Men's Christian Association has during the past year rendered a distinct service to the city by the talks and suppers it has arranged for the Business men of the city. It announces in the columns of this paper a series of Dramatic readings for four Sunday afternoons which judging from the ability and prominence of the reader and the selections to be read should command a large hearing.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS.

The New York World asks imperitently who is paying the bills, for the campaigns of Messrs. Roosevelt, Taft, Clark, Harmon and Wilson, but most patriots are anxious to learn how and where the money is being disbursed.

It is pointed out that the textile mills could have saved all this trouble by giving the advance of wages in the first place, but then they would have had to go around and beg the editors to put their names in the papers.

Charges to the effect that loaded dice were used by sharpers on the Lusitania call attention to the demoralization the crap game has undergone since it got into swift company.

New Jersey looking forward to a lively summer with the Woodrow Wilson campaign and the summer resort boardwalks in full blast simultaneously.

It was a trifle disconcerting for the composers of prize national anthems to see the "Houn' Dawg Song" step in and take immediately precedence.

It helps a good deal toward getting rich not to take all the chances of investment that are offered to you.

The best is Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys only, made from pure roots and herbs, and the only one that is backed by willing testimony of Portsmouth people. Here's a case: James Pickles, 11 Burkett St., Portsmouth, N. H., says "I was afflicted with kidney disease for several years and was unable to find relief from dull pains in my back until a few months ago when I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Philbrick's Pharmacy. Often I had such severe pains across my loins that I could scarcely move. The kidney secretions contained sediment and were so frequent in passage, that I was obliged to arise several times at night. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first and continued entirely cured me."

RAILROAD NOTES

A. B. Corbitt, chief engineer of the Boston and Maine is touring the North country on inspection with other officials.

A resolution passed the Massachusetts House, on Friday, calling on the railroad board to say what action if any, has been taken under the acts of 1906 which requires the board to investigate, management, rates and the convenience to passengers. The first demand following that of the engineers for increase of wages has come from the shopmen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad who have asked the management to consider a 15 per cent increase. The shopmen of the system number approximately about 5000. They received an increase of wages in 1907.

The firemen of the company numbering about 1200 are expected to ask for an increase soon, as well as the telegraphers, who number about 1500. Both these groups received increases in 1910, in which year they and other classes in the operating department of the company received total increases of wages amounting to $1,536,196.

Conductor S. H. Rowell who runs the S. & A. m. train between this city and Concord, over the Southern division, who has been on a furlough of six months, will resume his duties on April 15.

The track work on the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge has been assigned to Foreman John Whalen of the Portsmouth section crew of the Boston and Maine since the Kittery and Eliot sections were combined.

Upon the petition of the Sullivan County railroad in regard to an extension of its line from Cornish to West Lebanon, the public service commission has ordered a hearing to be held at its office in the state house in Concord, on May 4, 1912, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. This petition was originally filed with the supreme court of the state of New Hampshire, April 19, 1911, and was transferred to the public service commission, Nov. 6, 1911.

worked earnestly for the passage of this bill. It embodied the ideas of Governor Bass, and we felt that the important thing was to have this tax controversy settled. Governor Bass personally thanked me for my efforts in behalf of the bill.

An act in relation to employers' liability and workmen's compensation. This bill was opened by the railroad, but was passed by a large vote on April 15th.

An act in relation to the duties of the attorney-general, approved April 15, 1911.

An act providing for a constitutional convention, approved April 15, 1911.

An act relating to automobile, approved April 12, 1911.

In reference to the three last measures, the Boston and Maine railroad took no part in opposing or favoring the passage of the bills.

Of the other measures referred to by the Governor, most of which were passed prior to the passage of the rate bill, the railroad took no part in favoring or opposing them, excepting the bill to acquire the Crawford notch, which bill the railroad favored.

Does this look as if "The railroad held back all our progressive measures in order to compel action satisfactory to them in the rate matter?"

To sum up: Every progressive measure in any way affecting the railroad was favored by the railroad, excepting only the workmen's compensation bill. Progressive measures which did not affect the railroad were neither opposed nor favored by the railroad, despite efforts on the part of certain persons to get assistance from the railroad in the passage of these measures.

Mr. Hollis, upon reflection, will admit the inaccuracy of his statement. He may, however, say that the rate matter was offered as an amendment to the Public Service commission bill, and that the railroad contended that these two matters should be passed as one bill. This is true.

For attempting to tie these two measures together the railroad was bitterly attacked. At the hearing before the Senate Committee scores of progressives from all over the state appeared. The attacks made were unfair and unjust. Had I been free to speak of the history of the joining together of these two measures the sentiment would have been very different. This method of procedure was originally suggested by certain administration leaders, who, in one of the first drafts of the Public Service Commission bill, inserted a section relating to the settlement of this controversy. On at least three different occasions thereafter this procedure was discussed by me with persons closely identified with the administration, and at no time was the suggestion made that it was an improper arrangement; on the contrary it was thought to be entirely proper to join these two kindred matters.

There is no question that there was hostility between the administration and the Senate. This was due primarily to the inevitable antagonism existing between the progressive and conservative wings of the party, aggravated, however, by the unwillingness of the Governor to have the rate matter investigated by a joint committee of Senate and House. The railroad took absolutely no part in opposing the so-called progressive measures on the contrary, as indicated above, it favored the passage of all except one which in any way affected it.

Mr. Hollis, in the Keene address, which he entitled "Theodore Roosevelt, Progressive," speaks highly of Mr. Roosevelt. I do not think he exaggerates; in fact I think he fails to appreciate fully the services of Mr. Roosevelt to the nation. Mr. Roosevelt stands emphatically for a square deal as between corporations and the people. He believes in eliminating corporate power from improper influence in the government, but once a corporation confines itself to its legitimate functions, there is no man in the country who is so ready to accord fair and generous treatment to the corporations as Mr. Roosevelt.

I am sure Mr. Roosevelt will not object to my quoting from a letter which he wrote me about a year ago. "As you know I feel most strongly that it is the duty of the Progressives to protect corporations when they are doing right just as much as to call them to account when they are doing wrong. Unfortunately most Progressives are rather weak on this point."

Yours very truly

KITTERY LETTER

Breezy Items from Village Across the River

Kittery, March 30
Following are the services at the local churches for tomorrow:
Second Methodist Church.
Rev. Lyle Galtner of the Methodist church of Portsmouth will preach at the vesper services at 5 o'clock.
There will be no service in the morning except the Sunday school will meet at the usual time, 12 o'clock.
Meeting of the Epworth League at 4 o'clock. The public cordially invited.
Second Christian Church.
Rev. Arnaldo Natino, pastor.
Preaching at 10:30 a. m., subject:— Sunday school at 12.
Christian Endeavor meeting at 8 subject, "The Foreign Missions of Denominations, A Birds Eye View." leader, Miss Alex Dennett.
Preaching at 7, subject, "Raphael's Last Great Masterpiece." Special music by the Ladies' Quartet.
Regular mid-week prayer meeting on Tuesday evening at 7:30.
Everybody welcome. Seats free.
The Phoebe, the newly organized society of young ladies, gave their first public affair last evening in the vestry of the Second Christian church at which time they met and entertained their friends and the members of the church parish. The evening program began with a reception, the following officers receiving: President, Miss Mabel Burnham; Vice President, Miss Anna Natino; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Nettie Bowden, Chairman of entertainment committee, Miss Sarah Bickford, the other members acting as ushers. During the reception music was furnished by Mrs. Lina Hobbs. The following program was given:

Remarks concerning the object of the "Phoebe," Rev. Arnaldo Natino. Reading, Miss Anna Winslow of Portsmouth Piano Solo, Miss Mildred Donnell Reading, Mrs. Mabel Burnham Vocal Solo, Miss Charlotte Bickford Reading, Miss Frances Gilson Vocal Solo, Albert L. Sprague Reading, Miss Winslow
A social hour followed, during which cocoa, sandwiches, assorted cake and fancy cookies were served by the members of the society. The vestry had been prettily decorated in yellow and white crepe paper, and two daintily set tables were presided over by Mrs. Bessie Locke and Mrs. A. Caswell, and Mrs. Lizzie Dunbar and Mrs. George Seawards, while the Phoebe acted as waitresses. This new society should receive the cooperation of the parish in its endeavors to fulfill the object for which it is formed, viz: to study the Bible, it being composed largely of members of the Bible class; to promote the social life of the church, and to materially help in the improvement of the church property.

York Rebekah lodge will observe April 11 as "Gentlemen's Night." A royal evening's entertainment is promised, and every Rebekah in town should plan to attend the meeting on that evening. Remember the date, April 11.
This evening at 7:30 at Wentworth hall occurs the meeting of the residents of the Kittery Water District to elect a trustee.
Everett E. Otis is restricted to the house by illness.
Mrs. Milton Cochrane is reported as being ill.
At the regular meeting of York Rebekah lodge on April 11, "Gentlemen's Night" will be the special feature. A splendid program is in preparation, which will not be made known before being presented.
Samuel Hodgdon of Kittery Point has accepted the position of janitor of Wentworth and Odd Fellows' halls in place of Sewell Prince, who resigned.
Miss Ella F. Lowd of Portsmouth was a visitor in town Friday evening. Mrs. Ralph Clarke still remains quite ill at her home.
Every one should attend the annual meeting of the Kittery Water District, at Wentworth hall, Saturday, March 30 at 7:30 p. m.

LOCAL MAN IN LINE FOR GRAND REGENT

Grand Council of Royal Arcanum to Meet Here

The annual session of the Grand council of New Hampshire, Royal Arcanum, will convene in this city, April 17. At this session will be transacted the yearly business. Officers will be elected. A meeting of the executive board of the state branch will take place in this city the preceding day.
Grant Regent I. Everett Ewer of Dover has issued the official call for the meeting. He advises the members that all past regents of the order, bearing proper credentials, will be admitted to seats in the convention, but the power of voting and voting will be limited to the duly elected representatives of the various councils.
All resolutions for amendments to the constitution, or matters to be considered by the grand council, are to be forwarded to the grand secretary, T. E. Smith, not later than April 16. Hotel Kearsarge is designated as the headquarters of the grand regent and grand secretary, who will greet the representatives the night preceding the annual meeting. These standing committees have been appointed: Laws, James B. Adams of Dover, J. H. Metcalf of Concord and Howard O. Nelson of this city; finance, Harry D. Yeaton of this city, T. H. Powers of Manchester and F. L. Jennings of Exeter.
Frank E. Leavitt of this city, who is now the grand vice regent, is in line to succeed Grand Regent Ewer. No opposition is expected. Dr. Fred S. Towle of this city is the grand physician and E. Percy Lawrence, also of this city, is the grand warden of the state council.

pleasantly entertained on Saturday afternoon by Miss Ida Lewis.
Miss Geraldine Getchell is confined to the home of her parents by illness.

OBITUARY.

George E. Johnson.
George E. Johnson, who has passed several summers at Wallis Sands, and who was well known in this city, having visited frequently at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Almy, died at his home in Auburn, Maine, Friday afternoon as the result of a paralytic stroke.
Mr. Johnson was born in Boston Sept. 13, 1842, moved to Auburn, Maine, with his parents when a boy and was educated in the local schools. While in Illinois when a young man, he responded to Lincoln's first call for volunteers, enlisting in Company D, Ninth Regiment of Illinois Volunteers, and was soon promoted to the rank of sergeant. He was later transferred to the army of General Fremont in which he continued to July 1863.
He later entered the secret service branch of the army police and was under the direct employ of General Rosecrans until 1863.
Since the war Mr. Johnson had made his home in Auburn, Maine, where he had engaged in the hay and grain business. He was a member of the Centenary Methodist church of that village and of several fraternal organizations.
He is survived by his wife two sons, Harry G. of Cambridge and Edward S. Johnson of Burlington, Vt., and two daughters, Mrs. Charles E. Almy and Miss Mabel Johnson, both of Auburn, Maine.

ITS GOING TO BE EXCITING.

A high pitch of rivalry is existing between the Young Emmets and the Keystone Club as to who will carry off the honors at bowling. The Keystone who recently were defeated on the alleys say they are to come back but they wish to make the contest an object and are talking as if they have plenty spare cash to back up their end of the fight. They are likely to be accommodated by the Emmets who never show the white feather in any sporting event.

What Is Happening in the Harbor Town

Ernest Tobey is enjoying four days vacation from his duties at the navy yard.

Rev. Winifred Coffin will occupy the pulpit at the First Christian church on Sunday, taking her text from Matthew 19, 20.

Miss Mildred Livingstone of Brockton, Mass., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Emery.

The funeral of Daniel F. Sawyer took place from the Free Baptist church at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

Friday's rain took-off every trace of the snow, and considerably improved the walking, which for several days past has been as bad as they can make.

Miss Alice Hodgdon of South Berwick has returned to her home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Blake.

Harry McKenney moved his family on Thursday from Kittery Junction to the house of the late Theodore Keene on Chauncy Creek.

The S. V. Fancy Work Club was pleasantly entertained on Friday evening by Miss Margaret Fletcher. Mrs. Eliza E. Bray is confined to her home by illness.

Clark Wyman went to the Lynn, Mass., Hospital on Thursday to undergo an operation for appendicitis. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

The condition of Capt. Henry Marlen is reported to be considerably improved.

Frank Tobey of South Eliot, a former resident of this place, recently called on friends in town.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Clarkson has returned from a business visit to Biddeford.

Mrs. Mary A. Wyman left for Lynn, Mass., on Friday.

Rumor has it that Kittery Point is soon to boast a drug store of its very own. Speed the happy day!

Willbur Randall has resumed his duties at the Navy Yard, after a vacation.

While no one has as yet reported any bluebirds in this vicinity, in lieu thereof we are now regaled with the vernal song of the siren whistle on the dredger just beginning the season's work in Pepperell's Cove.

SELIG BUYS LARGE TRACT FOR ANIMAL FARM.

Recently Mr. W. N. Selig purchased an ideal tract of property near Santa Monica, Cal. The property comprises over three hundred acres and is situated on the line of the Los Angeles Pacific Interurban R. R. It is easily accessible to the newly enlarged Selig Edendale Studios and within a short distance of Santa Monica Harbor on the Pacific Ocean, where the Selig Co. keep their flotilla of boats. The new property will be converted into what will be known as the Selig Animal Farm. A studio will be erected and permanent animal quarters built. All of the buildings will be of concrete and they will be designed in the Mission style which distinguishes the Selig buildings in California. The Selig manager, in charge of Dig Otto Briekreutz, will be moved to their new quarters at once, and his wonderful collection of wild animals, which is now one of the greatest collections in the country, will be added to gradually until it knows no rival. Needless to say, the Selig people are planning some animal pictures that will surpass anything in this line that has gone before.

THE UNDERWORLD OF LONDON

Realm of Feasting Unrest for Which There Is No Peace and No Hope.

A dreadful, fearful underworld. A wilderness of sin infested with crawling atoms as with vermin. A gloomy realm of feasting unrest for which there is no peace, no hope, no relief, no salvation. A place of darkness, in which children awake in the night to grapple with the unclean thing. And that is what all the poor lost souls down there are doing, all night long and every night, but not by days, because there is no day in that foul Tophet. Down there it is all darkness and a nightmare of haunting forms and faces. Faces and forms made visible in the darkness by the phosphorescence of their own corruption. The old, old faces of little children. The hideous childishness of senility. They glibly at you as you pass, and flout and mock you in your dreams afterward, all dabbled with tears and sweat and swollen with evil mirth at the sight of one another's misery and suffering. They loom through the driving reek, pale, spectral, floating on the unclean wind that forever drifts through these maddening stews of infamy in a never-ending succession of ogling death-masks. Women's faces drift along with these others, weeping with an infantile abandon, making an ugly mouth and letting the big glittering drops ooze from their sunken or rheumy eyes and trickle down their bloated or hollow cheeks. Young men's faces, perplexed and frowning, that should be gay or resolute. The sky above that intorted maze of charnel-houses is red as if with the vital stream of life as it ebbs out with the dying day. Night comes down as if God frowned.—Forum.

SHIP GETS STRANGE ORDER

Obeys Mysterious Message on Slate and Rescues People From Sinking Vessel.

Robert Dale Owen is our authority for the following story:

"The mate of a bark which was sailing southwards across the banks of Newfoundland was in the cabin working out the vessel's course when he noticed a man sitting at the other end of the table busy writing on a slate. Thinking it was the captain, he paid no further attention, but presently, looking up from his calculation, he saw the man suddenly disappear. "Startled, he went across, picked up the slate, and found written on it, 'Steer to the northwest.' "He called the captain. The writing was certainly not that of any of the crew, and eventually it was decided to obey the strange order. The vessel was put in a nor-westerly course and a man stationed at the masthead to keep a sharp lookout. "In a few hours they sighted ice, and amongst it, in an almost sinking condition, a big ship. They reached her just in time to save her people. Among them was a passenger whom the mate recognized as the stranger who had written on the slate. According to the other passengers, this man had been in a deep sleep or trance at the hour at which the incident had taken place."

His Money's Worth.

A man with a long but scanty beard and a gimlet eye came into Cyrus Teed's general store, in a little New Hampshire town, and called for five cents worth of peanuts. Cyrus measured out a pint and handed the bag over. The man weighed it in his hand and looked more discontented than ever.

"There ain't many there, he they?" he asked querulously. "Ain't it kinder small measure?"

"Regular full pint, what I always give for a nickel!" snapped Cyrus, who knew his customer well.

"Why, when I was down in Boston," argued the bearded man, "there was a place there where I could get twice as many peanuts as this for five cents."

"Well," said Mr. Teed, definitely, "the round trip to Boston is only $2.55. Why don't ye go down to Boston and get your money's worth?" This closed the incident.—Youth's Companion.

Nuts That Give Light.

Seeds of two very remarkable trees have recently come to the government plant bureau through the hands of our agricultural explorers. Both of them might be called light bearers, though in ways somewhat different.

One of them is the "pili" nut tree, which grows in the southern part of the island of Luzon, and nowhere else in the Philippines. It is quite a large tree, and its seed is described as extraordinarily rich in flavor. All the Americans in the Philippines think it the finest nut grown. When the nuts are roasted, if a lighted match be touched to one of them, it will "burn like a lamp," so rich is it in oil.

Baltimore a Convention City.

Down to the civil war period, Baltimore was a favorite place for national conventions. Candidates for president nominated there by all parties, beginning with 1832. Included Andrew Jackson, Henry Clay, Martin Van Buren, James K. Polk, John Tyler, Zachary Taylor, Lewis Cass, Franklin Pierce, General Scott, Stephen A. Douglas, John C. Breckinridge, John Bell and Abraham Lincoln (in 1864).

ONE AMERICAN AMONG THEM

Clement Shorter Names Thomas A. Edison as One of Ten Greatest Men of Age.

"Doubtless," writes Clement Shorter, in the Strand, "there are many great men living in the world today—men with prospective greatness—that is, or even achieved greatness—but only time can decide. In my judgment, there is no man in the world today who is great in any walk of life in so striking a way that his contemporaries can unhesitatingly proclaim him great. History has proclaimed the elder Pitt a great man, but not so certainly his son. It has not assigned his epithet to Palmerston or Peel, and it is too early yet to decide whether it will concede it to Gladstone or Disraeli. The great man is surely he who, by force of genius, has impressed himself upon his age in some permanent form. Whether the achievements of Mr. Roosevelt or of Emperor William are of this character had better be decided a century hence. As you ask me, however, to join in what can scarcely be a serious discussion, I suggest that we take the name of a living man from each country who has, by invention or creation, stamped himself upon his age. I therefore nominate the ten greatest men of the present day as follows:

"Great Britain, Thos. Hardy; Great Britain, Lord Liston; United States, Thomas A. Edison; Italy, Guglielmo Marconi; Italy, Giacomo Puccini; France, Francois Coppee; Austria, Richard Strauss; Germany, Hermann Sudermann; Belgium, Maurice Maeterlinck; Russia, Elie Metchnikoff."

PAINTER IN HIS OLD AGE

Retired Rear Admiral Wins Distinction With His Landscapes Done in Water Colors.

Rear Admiral Charles Henry Davis, who retired from active service in the United States navy four years ago, has thirty-two paintings on exhibition in the Corcoran Art gallery at Washington, D. C., which is one of the finest public galleries in America and one in which the knights of the palette and brush consider it quite a triumph to have their pictures exhibited. To a singular genius he has added painstaking industry, and has pushed himself up into an enviable place among the best landscape painters in water colors in this country.

At a time in life when he was supposed to have finished his mission, and to be allowed to go back and sit down in a corner and be very still, the old hero of the Civil war and Spanish-American war appears as vibrant in his intellect as he was at thirty, and has become a master of art, revealing in a realm of beauty, and transferring the beauty from his own soul to canvas, to delight and bless his fellows. What a beautiful example this grizzled old veteran and this delicate artist set to old men who think there is nothing left for them to do.—The Christian Herald.

Independent Beggar.

William E. Kilgannon, clerk of the juvenile court, found out Saturday afternoon that some men beg because they do not wish to work. An agile fellow, fairly well dressed, was about the courthouse asking for "just a dime." He "struck" Kilgannon.

"I won't give you any money," said Kilgannon, "but I can get you a good job." Kilgannon remembered that a manufacturer had called him over the phone a short time before and told him he was in need of a good man. He said he would pay $1.75 a day.

Kilgannon had taken the receiver from the telephone and was about to tell the manufacturer he had found a man for him when the beggar asked how much the job would pay. Kilgannon told him.

"I wouldn't work for anybody for that," said the beggar.

"All right," replied Kilgannon, "get out of here."—Indianapolis News.

How She Got Fresh Eggs.

A young lady living in a small city had impaired her health by too confining work in a city office. Her physician ordered her to a sanitarium for rest and upbuilding, and when she returned to work he instructed her to eat four fresh laid eggs daily; two eggs for breakfast and the others raw in milk. Finding it difficult to obtain dependably fresh eggs she persuaded her mother to permit her having a small flock in the home yard. A portable house was purchased and fifteen pullets installed in it. A small brother was paid ten cents a week to feed and care for the flock, two bags of ready-mixed food were bought and the result of the venture was not only all the eggs the young lady needed and a surplus for the family, but there was a surplus which found a ready market at the corner drug store, bringing ten cents a dozen above the market price.—The Christian Herald.

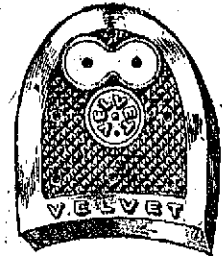

German Working Girls.

Late statistics give a good idea of how the increasingly large number of country girls who go to the larger cities from villages and small towns in Germany earn their daily bread. The largest number are employed in cotton factories. There were about 150,000 girls employed last year in cotton mills and 52,900 in tobacco factories. In laundries 8,300 women are employed, of whom a large number eventually went into service as housemaids.

DOES YOUR SKIN BURN? IS IT INFLAMED OR IRRITATED?

A simple application of the new remedy Cadum will stop the burning and itching, and prevent infection from disease germs. Cadum is an antiseptic that is wonderfully soothing and healing to an inflamed, irritated or broken skin, and can be used with confidence for skin and scalp troubles of adults and infants. A small cut, scratch, sore or wound is a nesting-place for disease germs. Cadum should be in every home for immediate use in all such emergencies, and for prompt application in skin troubles. It has proved a blessing to many who have suffered for years from tormenting and disfiguring skin diseases. Cadum acts quickly upon eczema, pimples, blotches, rashes, eruptions, sores, rough skin, chaffings, itching piles or all druggists, 10c. & 25c.

WAS BEATEN BY 'SCATTERING'

Candidate for Office in Mississippi Loses to Fellow Trotter Out at Last Minute.

"One of the most amusing election stories I ever heard comes from Mississippi in the days just succeeding the Civil war," said F. A. Herold of Newark, Del., at the Raleigh. "It was one of the favorite stories of the late L. Q. C. Lamar of Mississippi, who was one of the best story tellers of his day.

"Senator Beck of Kentucky, himself of no mean capacity in that line, pronounced Lamar the best story teller he ever knew. The story is this: In one of the small towns of that state lived a man with a chronic desire to hold office. Any office would do for him. He had been a candidate for office many times, but had always been defeated. Finally, an opportunity arose for him, so it was thought. An office was to be filled by election, for which there was no announced candidate except this man. Under the constitution of the state a majority of all the votes cast was required to elect.

"On the evening of the election every one expected, of course, that this man would be elected. His friends were congratulating him that at last he had secured an office, and were jollifying over the event. It was suggested to him that he go over to the polls and ascertain what the vote was. He did so, but remained quite a while. When he returned in a crest-fallen spirit, his friends asked him what the result was. He was silent for a moment, and then said that he had not been elected.

"How is that?" they asked. "There was no other candidate against you." "That's what I thought," he replied; "but at the last minute they trotted out a fellow named 'Scattering,' and he beat me to death. I won't run any more."—Washington Post.

PIGEONS FALL FROM GRACE

Drunken Orgy of Feathered Tribe Results From Accident to a Keg of Rum.

A heavy truck loaded with kegs of liquor was jolting across a line of car tracks when one of the kegs toppled and fell from the top of the pile into the street. It was thoroughly smashed, so the truckman whipped up his team and went his way with stopping. The rum flowed out over the street—one little dent in the paving collecting a visible puddle of it.

In a few minutes a pigeon came fluttering down to drink at the pool thus fortunately provided for thirsty birds. The initial taste was a surprise, but a second and a third soon followed and soon the pigeon tottered flustered away, too overcome to fly. Other birds, seeing him there and anxious to wet their parching throats followed their brother in his path of wicked intemperance.

Five minutes later a passerby was astonished to see a dozen pigeons in the gutter of the otherwise deserted street, some dancing drunkenly, others already sound asleep. A few feet away a bound of disreputable appearance was creeping up, slowly and a trifle unsteadily, on his unsuspecting and bibulous quarry. As he was at most among the birds his feet went suddenly in several directions and he lay in the gutter among the pigeons, growling sleepily to himself, for he too, was drunk.

American Girl Supreme.

The women seen in the German restaurants, while better groomed and better looking than the average English women, do not look anything like as chic as they do in America. Their clothes do not fit as well, and they seem to not possess the air of confidence or the vivacity and merriment of the American women—they appear to not be sure of themselves, not wholly accustomed to the new life. This contrast is very noticeable in Berlin, and much more so in other German cities. This is why a pretty up-to-date New York or Chicago girl never fails to become the center of attraction in Germany, and immediately she enters a restaurant she is the cynosure of all eyes—National Food Magazine.

Dazed by Skyscrapers.

"Over in Europe they are rather dazed about American skyscrapers just now," said the woman who spent last summer in Denmark. "At least some of them are. When we began putting up those tall buildings Europeans made fun of us and predicted disasters. We were sensitive about their ridicule at times, because we were not sure of the value of the experiment ourselves, but as we have gained confidence and soar recklessly from one gigantic, heaven-piercing structure to another still more daring Europeans simply hold their breath as they look at our postcards and other pictures, which give them a faint idea of downtown New York."

Reform Movement.

Mrs. Benham—When we women get to running the government we'll do a thing or two.
Benham—Such as what?
Mrs. Benham—We'll make a man take out a hunter's license before he can look for a collar button, and in his application he will have to certify that he doesn't swear.

"This wireless is a great thing."
"Yes, indeed. Now an actress going to Lyons can quarrel with her manager all the way across."

DESERT OCEAN IN AFRICA

Sahara to Be Covered With Ships and Surrounded by Fertile Fields and Forests.

The project of converting the desert of Sahara into a vast inland sea, one-half the size of the Mediterranean, is again being agitated, chiefly by Prof. Gotchegoven, a distinguished scientist. He believes he has worked out a satisfactory plan for the engineering work necessary, and is now urging that France add this to its other Northern Africa enterprises.

About one-fourth of the great desert is below the sea level, and by his plan of cutting a canal some 50 miles long to the north coast of Africa, the whole region would be covered with a sea from 10 to 60 fathoms deep and navigable by steamers, thus producing a flourishing traffic between French West Africa.

It is also argued that all the arid section surrounding the desert would be rendered as fertile as Europe, and that millions of people, now leading a precarious existence, could support themselves in comfort.

Two objections are raised by other scientists. One is the possible damage which might be done to Europe by an alteration of climatic conditions on a large scale, and another the imagined possibility that the equilibrium of the earth would be affected by the displacement of so many billions of tons of water. Most savants, however, consider that such objections are exaggerated.

ARE WEDDED IN WHISPERS

Voiceless Oregon Couple Engage Clergyman Similarly Afflicted to Perform Marriage Ceremony.

The first wedding ceremony conducted in whispers, so far as is known, occurred at Vancouver, Wash., when a Portland dentist married a pretty young woman from that city, the wedding taking place at the home of Rev. Walter I. Eck, of St. Paul's English Lutheran church.

Mr. Eck was at the church, when two stylishly gowned young women appeared and informed him that his services would be necessary for the happiness of Miss Martha Frances Owens, who was to become the bride of Dr. Hugh Charles Smith, both of Portland. The witness was Miss Fay Forrest Gibson, also of Portland.

Two weeks ago, when ending a prayer in church, Rev. Mr. Eck suddenly lost his power of speech, and since then he has conversed in whispers.

Trying to recover his voice in vain, he whispered: "I can't talk; all I can do is whisper."

Touched by sympathy, the determined bride-to-be whispered back: "That will be all right. Just so long as it is quiet we don't care. We came over here to have a quiet wedding and you will do fine."

Going to the pastor, the two to be married answered in whispers the whispered questions asked by the voiceless pastor.

Queer Burial Customs.

The attempt made by thieves to plunder the grave of a famous Parisian actress reminds a writer in the Journal des Debats that the ancient custom of depositing valuables in tombs still prevails in France. But it is not only jewels and the like that are buried with the dead.

A few years ago it was the custom in La Vendee to put a polished stone within reach of the corpse. This was supposed to guide the dead on their new journey. In the district of Dinan a piece of consecrated bread was used for the same purpose. The people of the Bordeaux district place in the coffin a sprig of myrtle-blossom at Easter. This is considered to insure entry into paradise.

On the borders of Brittany and Poitou a little pebble is placed on the tongue of the deceased. Without this it is thought he might plead his cause before the great tribunal with such vulnerability as would insure his condemnation without appeal.

UNDER THE GRAND OLD FLAG

Woodman, Accompanying Tenderfoot, by No Means Actuated by Sentiment Alone.

Frank O'Malley, who bucketers words to magazines, admitted the other day that last fall he made his first trip into the woods. Mr. O'Malley told about the pleasure he took in outfitting for the trip—that pleasure being added to by the assumption of friendly relations with the manager of a downtown sporting goods store. "I had known him by sight for a long time," said Mr. O'Malley, "for I have a little office immediately above the store he manages. But I had never gotten acquainted with him. He seemed an unapproachable and stand-offish sort of man. Then I made a week-end trip to Atlantic City, and forgot to turn of the tap in my stationary washstand in my little office on the floor immediately above the sporting goods store. 'So,' says Mr. O'Malley, "when I came back from Atlantic City, that's how I got acquainted with the manager."

In the Maine woods Mr. O'Malley acquired a guide named Fred. The guide watched with some apprehension as Mr. O'Malley took lengths of gun barrel and joined them together, and prepared for his tour through the woods in search of big game. When they were finally ready to penetrate the forest depths, the guide came out with an American flag lashed to the barrel of his rifle.

"What are you carrying that flag for?" asked Mr. O'Malley.

"Well," said the guide, "you wouldn't fire on the grand old stars and stripes, would you?"—Herbert Corey in the Cincinnati Times-Star.

Congressman's Coal Yarn.

The present winter has been a record breaker in Washington so far as the weather and the high cost of living have been concerned. During the recent blizzard many householders were caught unprepared, dealers couldn't begin to supply the sudden demand, and coal wagons were all but raided on the streets.

One morning as Congressman Roberts was on his way to catch a car for the capital he saw a coal wagon crunched through the snow a short distance ahead of him, the negro driver smoking a pipe and flapping his arms to keep warm. Just as it got in front of a house a woman threw open a front window, thrust her head out, beckoned to the driver and shouted:

"Here! Is that coal for Eaton?"

The negro took the pipe from his mouth and rolled up the whites of his eyes with astonishment. He said: "Lord God, no; this here coal ain't fur eatin'—it's fur burnin'!"—Washington Post.

As Others See Us.

Playwrights seldom are impressive personally, according to Channing Pollock, in his book, "The Footlights—Fore and Aft." "On the whole," he remarks, "it is easy to understand the disappointment of a hero worshiper to whom a companion pointed out Charles Klein. The author of a dozen successful pieces tells the story with great gusto. 'It was on a ferry boat,' he relates, 'and two young chaps were standing near the forward doors. As I strolled past, one of them remarked: "That's the fellow that wrote 'The Gambler.'"

"My chest had already begun to expand, when I caught the rejoinder. 'Him!' exclaimed the other. 'Well, I'll be damned!'"

ANASTASIA IS GYPSY QUEEN.

She Has Just Turned Twenty and Is a Beauty of the First Water.

Nikolai, the Gypsy king, is dead, and his queen, Anastasia, reigns in his place in the world that amuses itself, says a St. Petersburg correspondent. For thirty years Nikolai was the hero of the variety and concert stage, of after dinner entertainments and private cabaret shows. He was a composer as well as a singer, a virtuoso on the guitar and a graceful dancer. His troupe usually consisted of thirty to forty Gypsies, whose gorgeous costumes were the delight of St. Petersburg. He himself was always dressed in red silk with plenty of gold lace, his breast covered with medals, coins and decorations. He wore a sword and a sabretache and in the latter he stuffed the paper money, gold and silver thrown at him during his performances.

The Russian Gypsy has a musical field of his own. He doesn't use the fiddle, but he plays the guitar and sings better than any troubadour of old.

Anastasia was his third or fourth queen. She has just turned twenty and is a full-fledged Gypsy. She is a beauty of the first water. All St. Petersburg calls her diva or queen, but since she attained popularity and wealth she has never appeared in the national costume. The latest from Paris is hardly good enough for her. She has a high pitched mezzo soprano voice and makes her hearers laugh and cry at will.

And she sits there blazing with diamonds from the buckles of her satin slippers to the top of her head, hundred ruble notes, silver, gold and copper fly about her from boxes, stalls and galleries. These volunteer contributions she calls her "taxes." At the end of her act her majesty collects them with a broom and woe to the Gypsy who dares sneak a single kopeck, for Anastasia has the eye of an eagle and is as suspicious as a Turk.

WHEN GUARD HELD TRAIN

Passengers Ready to Sign Petition for Pardon in Case He Is Reprimanded.

If the subway guard who held his train half a minute beyond schedule time should be reprimanded at headquarters a hundred passengers who know why he did it will sign a petition for his pardon. Sentiment was back of it. Somebody wanted to kiss. A lot of people want to do that. Women kiss each other, men kiss their wives. The guards have no patience with sentiment of that kind. They flaunt their contempt by saying: "Break away, there; no time for that," and refuse to hold the train half a second for the tenderest salute.

But this case was different. It was easy to see how it was. A mother was giving away her child. The little fellow was in good hands. The couple who had adopted him were wholesome, kindly people; the mother was wretchedly poor. No doubt it was just all around to give him away. She and the boy stood the parting like majors up to the last minute; then the baby broke down.

"Mom—mom—mom," he blubbered from the car platform.

Before the guard could close the door or give the signal she had reached through the crowd and had snatched him from the man's arms.

"I can't, I can't," she said. And then the kissing began. The guard didn't even try to say "Break away." He gulped; so did everybody else. Presently the woman handed the boy back, and the train started on amid the deepest silence that had ever hung over that subway station.—New York Times.

Brilliant Admiration.

"You haven't got J. Jones Jenkins writing advertisements for you any more, I hear," remarked one business man to another, both good advertisers along different lines.

"No," replied the other in a tone of strong disapproval, "and I'm glad of it."

"What's wrong with him? I understood he had taken a course from a correspondence school and was thoroughly competent."

"Was he?" And the other man spat as though something tasted bad. "Was he? Well, let me tell you what he done. I had a new brand of tooth brushes and I wanted something extra to exploit them all over, and I told him to go to it good. Next day in all the papers it showed up large and luminous, and at the bottom there was a line standing out clear, which read: 'If not satisfactory after a week's trial return and get your money back.' Now, what do you think of that? Toothbrushes, mind you? Rate!"—Judge.

Japan a Land of Disillusionment.

The landing at Yokohama brings a series of surprises and disillusionments; so far from being covered with lacquer, the empire of Japan in dry weather is dusty and in rain is surfaced with mud; the tea houses are not built of porcelain, but of plain wood; the people eat beans and dried fish when they can get them; the trees have bark and leaves; but not all bear cherry blossoms; the numerous mountains all slope uphill. Thus the first hour on shore sweeps away the enchantments of a lifetime, and reveals a land strikingly like some parts of Alaska, and a people extremely human.—From "The Obvious Obvious," by Alfred Bushnell Hart.

POLICE NEWS.

The young men who made a trip to Dover on Friday evening in a carriage from one of the stables are unable to pay for their sport. Three of the four were arrested today charged with abusing the horse and brawling. The fourth has not yet been located. They were heard before Judge Stines in police court this afternoon.

Early this morning the police arrested a man and woman, charged with a statutory offence from a house of Fleet street.

A recent visit of the board of license commission to this city satisfied the board that the liquor business of Portsmouth was well conducted and the conditions as they found them by day and by night in all parts of the city, where saloons exist compared with any license city of the state. After making their tour of the city, the board personally complimented Chief Entwistle and the police department on the situation and expressed themselves as much pleased with everything that they saw, especially along the water front.

NOTICE.

Is waiting for you here. Our show of Spring Overcoats is a creditable performance.

Brief mention of a few of the most popular styles may interest you.

First, there's the Overcoat for the man inclined to conservative dress, Black and Oxford mixtures, some silk lined to the edge, The Chesterfield.

Then there is the young man's Coat in the Raglan style, of rough fabrics, loose, classy and always full of style.
